Meet the Brewer – Houraisen

Each month, we shine a spotlight on one sake producer, featuring a selection from across their range.

This month, we feature Houraisen from Aichi Prefecture, located halfway between Tokyo and Osaka. Houraisen consists of two breweries, one being a 'Ginjo workshop' where they provide educational training on production of Ginjo-style sake, and the other, the traditional brewery, where all the Houraisen's labels are made. The brewery uses water sources from local mountains, which is some the softest water in Japan with no magnesium and calcium to produce very 'soft' style of sake.
